Master's Programme in
Advanced European Studies

Advanced European Studies

University of Prishtina Master programme on Advanced European Studies aims to provide students with specialized and advanced knowledge and skills related to the European Union, its functions and policies.

The program is designed to prepare students to become future experts on EU law and policies and, as such, to give their contribution in the overall EU integration processes in the Republic of Kosovo and/or the countries they come from.

The distinctiveness of this program is multi-fold, ranging from its multi-disciplinary courses, offering insights from the perspective of political science, international relations, law and economics, all of them taught in English by a myriad of skilled professionals in these areas.

The programme offers unique and specialized courses, not offered within other comparable programmes in the country and the region, taught with a modern student-centred approach and methodology.

The courses are taught by Professors of International Law Department, with guest lectures and contributions from other professors, officials and experts in the areas of law, political science and economics in Kosovo and abroad.

Programme content

The programme offers courses covering the following areas and topics:

- EU History, Politics and Institutions;
- EU Legal System and Law;
- EU Private International Law;
- EU External Action;
- EU Environmental, Consumer, Competition Law and Policy;
- Jurisprudence of EU Court of Justice and more.

Students enrolled in this programme can also benefit from credits accrued in the Programme of Legal Clinics and International Competitions, within the Faculty of Law.
